Today's Liturgy

By Fr. Damien Dougherty, O.F.M.
This episode of the blind beggar of Jerico is among the liveliest pages of Mark, the only Evangelist to provide us with the man's name, indicating that he was, perhaps, known among the first generations of Church. This account underscores the importance that Jesus attributed to the faith of those who came to him to be healed of their infirmities. While others sought to silence Bartimaeus, his cries of supplication reached Jesus who called him.

This is the sole instance wherein Mark refers the title, "Son of David," to Jesus, but, beginning with II Samuel 7,12, quite a few texts present the Messiah as a descendent of David (cf. Psalm 89). In the Greek text, the blind man also calls him, "Rabbuni," which is properly translated as "my Master."

Immediately following the healing, the Greek verb chosen by Mark to narrate Bartimaeus' final reaction can indicate the action of following in a physical or in a spiritual sense as is the case with the other disciples. While, initially, it may appear difficult to determine the import, it seems to imply both forms of pursuit as Mark adjoins that this accompaning was "on the way," i.e., the route to Jerusalem with all that the journey implies. Therefore, we can discern the beginning of a spiritual discipleship as the healed man's enthusiasm and the Evangelist's emphasis on this cure would lead us to believe. Thus, Jesus not only gives light to the man's eyes but also illuminates the way to follow him.

Today's Readings / Lecturas de hoy

Jeremiah 31:7-9
Psalm 126:1-2, 2-3, 4-5, 6
The Lord has done great things for us; we are filled with joy.
Hebrews 5:1-6
Mark 10:46-52

Liturgia de hoy

Por el p. Damien Dougherty, O.F.M.
Este episodio del mendigo ciego de Jerico se encuentra entre las páginas más animadas de Mark, el único evangelista que nos proporcionó el nombre del hombre, lo que indica que él fue, quizás, conocido entre las primeras generaciones de la Iglesia. Este relato subraya la importancia que Jesús atribuyó a la fe de aquellos que acudieron a él para ser sanados de sus enfermedades. Mientras que otros intentaron silenciar a Bartimeo, sus gritos de súplica llegaron a Jesús, quien lo llamó.

Este es el único caso en el que Marcos refiere el título "Hijo de David" a Jesús, pero, comenzando con II Samuel 7,12, hay algunos textos que presentan al Mesías como un descendiente de David (cf. Salmo 89). En el texto griego, el ciego también lo llama "Rabbuni", que se traduce correctamente como "mi Maestro".

Inmediatamente después de la curación, el verbo griego elegido por Marcos para narrar la reacción final de Bartimeo puede indicar la acción de seguir en un sentido físico o espiritual, como es el caso con los otros discípulos. Si bien, inicialmente, puede parecer difícil determinar la importancia, parece implicar ambas formas de seguimiento, ya que Mark afirma que este acompañamiento estaba "en camino", es decir, la ruta a Jerusalén con todo lo que implica el viaje. Por lo tanto, podemos discernir el comienzo de un discipulado espiritual como el entusiasmo del hombre sanado y el énfasis del Evangelista en esta cura nos llevaría a creer. Por lo tanto, Jesús no solo ilumina los ojos del hombre sino que también ilumina el camino para seguirlo.

Auction News

The auction was a wonderful community event and we are so grateful for all the volunteers who worked to make it a success! The auction team deserves special recognition: Barbara Joy, Nichole Reding-Hoffart, Jim Shehan, Jesse Lyon, Bob Granger, Carol Blanusa, John Thanuparambil, Bella Lozada, Nati Vargas, Eva and Evita Ramos, Susan Kelly, and Lisa Hatten.

The auction's success depends on the generosity of so many parishioners who donate, volunteer, and attend the auction to spend their money to support the Community Center and all the Community Services. Thank you all so much!

St. Andrew Senior Ministry

Do you need:

- a ride to church?
- help finding health resources or aging? related needs?
- Sacramental visits
- Help as a caregiver?

The Senior Ministry team at St. Andrew connects parishioners to both spiritual and health resources. Currently, fifteen trained ministers of Holy Communion from our parish are available to bring the Eucharist and or visit with those who cannot get to Mass.

We recognize the isolation many in our parish feel as either caregivers or those receiving care. Please call or email Susan Thomson if you are interested in learning more about how our Senior Ministry team can help you.

Our Abundant Community

St. Andrew Theology Book Group

The book group was formed in the fall of 1992 at the suggestion of a new parishioner Marc Boucher-Colbert and the first meeting was at the home of Patrick and Marilyn Fleming.

The group decided to meet on the Second Monday of the month from 7 to 8:30 pm during the months from September to June. Andy Huckfeldt volunteered to coordinate notices of the schedule of the meetings to members and has done so for 26 years to date.

Members agreed to meet at member homes each month with the person who recommended the book to lead the discussion during the meeting. Members would indicate at the beginning of the meeting a issue or portion of the book they were interested in discussing and then the leader would facilitate the discussion to ensure all could participate.

Members agreed to meet every August for a book selection/ potluck usually held at John and Judy Rau's home. Book selections include various topics such as Christology, Biblical Scripture, cosmology, novels with spiritual or religious content, feminist theology, social justice history, Catholic church history, other religions' theology and history plus other books with theological relevance.

In 2018/2019 the group meets on the second Monday of the following months from 7:00 PM to 8:30 PM including October, February and May. New members are welcome at any time throughout the year. If you would like to be added to the St. Andrew Theology Book Group email list, contact Andy Huckfeldt at 503-349-7549 or by email andy@andyhuckfeldt.com.

African American Catholic Community of Oregon General Body Meeting

The AACCO will hold its quarterly general body meeting Sunday October 28, 2018 from 2:00 – 4:00 PM at St Andrew Church in the Oscar Romero Room. The AACCO represents African American and Black Catholics in Oregon. We work in conjunction with the archdiocese, clergy, and all Catholics to promote a better understanding of our traditions, contributions, and issues, in order to better serve these communities. Come join us, hear about our activities and work with us. Please contact Tony Jones, Chair, at tonyjonz61@gmail.com.
