Today's Liturgy

Today's readings invite us to trust fully in the Lord and to examine those times in which we trust more in ourselves than in the power of the Holy Spirit at work in our lives. Saint Paul defends his apostolic ministry in his letter to the Corinthians despite having persecuted the Church and being rejected by those who did not accept or understand him. He always trusted the risen Christ who called him one day to send him forth to preach a new message. Jesus himself, in the Gospel, asks the apostles to cast their nets and fish even though, according to Peter and his companions, there weren't many fish. This is a moment of trust and becomes an experience of sorrow and a search for forgiveness. Jesus does not reprimand Peter for his lack of faith; instead he invites him to understand that his new mission is "catching men." How many times have we trusted more in ourselves than in the Lord? When we recognize these times, Jesus invites us to discover new sources of evangelization and not to feel frustrated in our ministerial work. Let us remember that we are called to fish, even when there are not many to catch, because the true fisherman will encourage us.

Today's Reading / La lectura de hoy

Isaiah 6:1-2a, 3-8
Psalm 138:1-2, 2-3, 4-5, 7-8
1 Corinthians 15:1-11
Matthew 4:19

Liturgia de hoy

Las lecturas de hoy nos invitan a confiar plenamente en el Señor y a examinar los tiempos en los que confiamos más en nosotros mismos que en el poder del Espíritu Santo que obra en nuestras vidas. San Pablo defiende su ministerio apostólico en su carta a los corintios a pesar de haber perseguido a la Iglesia y haber sido rechazado por aquellos que no lo aceptaron ni lo entendieron. Siempre confió en el Cristo resucitado que lo llamó un día para enviarlo a predicar un nuevo mensaje. Jesús mismo, en el Evangelio, pide a los apóstoles que lancen sus redes y sus peces, aunque, según Pedro y sus compañeros, no había muchos peces. Este es un momento de confianza y se convierte en una experiencia de dolor y una búsqueda de perdón. Jesús no reprende a Pedro por su falta de fe; en lugar de eso, lo invita a comprender que su nueva misión es "atrapar hombres". ¿Cuántas veces hemos confiado más en nosotros mismos que en el Señor? Cuando reconocemos estos tiempos, Jesús nos invita a descubrir nuevas fuentes de evangelización y no a sentirnos frustrados en nuestro trabajo ministerial. Recordemos que estamos llamados a pescar, incluso cuando no hay muchos que capturar, porque el verdadero pescador nos alentará.

Music and the Liturgy

Music in Liturgy: Music has always been an integral part of liturgy. Those of us who are old enough can remember the old "high Mass." With Vatican II restoring the people's voice to the liturgy, singing has once again been part of their role and responsibility. The primary minister of music at liturgy is the assembly. The role of those whom we label "music ministers" is to enable the song of the assembly. Musical liturgy is normative. A liturgy without music should be an exception.

Bloomer "Ricky" Ford

He was our colleague, our friend, our brother. He was loved and he will be missed. Ricky passed away on Saturday, February 2nd.

Meals for Walnut Park Shelter

Our mission calls us to serve the poor. There is a need. Will you give 2- 3 hours to help cook a meal for people who are suffering this winter because they do not have a home? Each Monday in February and March we will use the St. Andrew kitchen to cook from 3:00 to 5:30 and then deliver the meals to Walnut Park Shelter about 6pm. We have the option of dropping off the food or serving it and eating with the shelter guests. If you are not available on Mondays they need food on other days as well. Another option if you don't enjoy cooking, perhaps you would consider making 80 PB&J sack lunches at home! This is a great option for Boy & Girl Scout troops. Email Lisa Hatten, lhatten@standrewchurch.com, if you would like to help.

Green Team

Save your styrofoam blocks, peanuts, egg cartons and food trays at home. We will have another collection at St. Andrew after Easter. You can also save #6 plastics- things like cutlery, red, blue, & clear cold beverage cups, black coffee lids, and CD or DVD clam shells. Rinse food and beverage items before storing.

Guarde en casa los bloques de espuma de poliestireno, el maní, los cartones de huevos y las bandejas de alimentos. Tendremos otra colección en San Andrés después de la Pascua. También puede guardar los plásticos Nº 6: cosas como cubiertos, tazas de bebidas frías, rojas, azules y transparentes, tapas de café negro y conchas de CD o DVD. Enjuague los alimentos y bebidas antes de guardarlos.
